Our grief at this Yizkor hour is uniquely our own, as we reflect on the dear ones we have loved. No matter how recently or how long ago we lost them, their memories are enduring reminders of the light they brought to our lives.

In the year that has passed, we have kept Israel in our hearts. We mourn those who were murdered. We pray for the release of the hostages, for the safety of Israel's soldiers and for all the innocents who suffer in harm's way.

On this Yom Kippur, 10 Tishrei 5785 | October 11-12, 2024,
we join together and say of our departed:
May their memory bring blessing to all those who loved them,
to our community, to the Jewish people and to the world.

A SANCTUARY FOR MEMORY

SILENT PRAYER

During this moment of silence,
bring me the grief of my people,
centuries born and centuries old,
and let it inspire me to still love the world.
Connect me with fleeting grace and the prophet's power
to keep opening up my soul
even when it is seared with loss.
Bring me the courage to quiet
my desperate need for answers
by letting hearts touch hearts on some imagined coastal plain.
Connect me with the calm of a desert valley after a surprise flash flood,
the rich pause between musical notes, or the serenity of a Jerusalem street on Shabbat.
Bring me the tentative hope in a room before a newborn's cry.
Connect me to the frail, silvery thread
that links me to the humanity of my neighbor.
During this moment of silence,
though there are horrors all around,
in spite of everything that directs me not, let the more loving one be — me.

Rabbi Hanna Yerushalmi

REFLECTIONS

This 2024/5785 series of meditations on grief and healing features poems written by Israelis since October 7 and voices of our clergy sharing their experiences in Israel during the past year.

Hope

Tsil Yam

I no longer respond to questions
Like “how are you?” or “what’s up?”
Or “what has changed from last year”
But if you ask me
“What do you need?”
I’ll know what to say,
Hope.

Still Life

Rabbi David Stern, sermon January 19, 2024, after Temple leadership mission to Israel

Hope is born out of darkness. This reminds me of a particular picture that I think a number of us on the trip took. We were standing inside of one of the ruined homes in Kibbutz Nir Oz, and through the shattered window was the most beautiful blossoming tree, brilliant red with a splash of orange flowers nearby.

The jagged edges. The rubble. The life. Maybe that is what still life means. That in the midst of this horror, there is still life. That in the song of the schoolchildren, there is still life. In the will of the people, in the hearts of Israelis who want peace, in every volunteer act of love, in every donation, in our hearts that span the oceans and the ages. There is still life. Still life. In our hearts and in our song.

Illusions

Michal Zats

Shiva: Poems of October 7, edited by Rachel Korazim, Michael Bohnen and Heather Silverman

Amazing
How everything looks Unchanged,
Even
When nothing
Remains
The same.

Straight from the Heart

Rabbi Debra Robbins, sermon March 8, after Federation of Greater Dallas Israel Mission

Guru Zuzu orchestrated the fun, in bright blue shorts and an orange headband and seemingly supercharged sneakers on his feet. He asked us to look into our hearts and see the tiny glowing light. There's a gold thread wrapped around it. Gently pull the thread out, he said. Now reach back into your quiver and pull out an arrow and tie that gold thread to the very tip of the arrow. And reach back again and get your bow and take aim. Place the arrow and send it out straight from your heart. To that person that you miss. Now gently tug. And feel that person holding the other end. Someone is send love and energy back to you. Back to your heart.

After That Terrible Day

Eva Murciano

Shiva: Poems of October 7

When I tried to write poetry
After that terrible day
The words fell face down on the ground
In a haphazard pile of crying and fear
And when I was again able to write poetry
After that terrible day
It emerged diminished in Tiny notes
Tentative steps
On matchstick feet
Ashamed it does not have Words enough.

Hope is an Action

Cantor Vicky Glikin, sermon July 12, after the American Conference of Cantors

Israel Experience

I want to share a story with you. Maoz Inon has spent his life working on coexistence and building bridges between Jewish and Arab Israelis. When we walked with Maoz through Nazareth, the Arab capital of Israel, we felt like we were walking with the mayor. He stopped to greet seemingly every passerby, shaking their hands and inquiring about their families.

Maoz lost both of his parents on October 7. As he said, nothing can prepare you to lose both parents and so many friends in one day. However, Maoz also realized that everything in his life until this moment, all of his peacemaking efforts, have prepared him for this moment in life. He wanted us to know that even now, he still has hope because hope is an action. You don't look for it, he said. You create it.

LIGHTING THE YAHRZEIT CANDLE

The yahrzeit candle is lit before Yom Kippur begins and burns throughout the day, approximately 24 hours, to remind us that the light and soul of our loved ones is with us. Only one candle is necessary although some prefer to light a candle for each person no longer living. After lighting the candle, pause for a moment of meditation and memory. (There is no blessing for this ritual.)

AT HOME

Meditation

“I Recall”

I call (name) to mind and heart,
the texture of her/his/their life,
its/their presence in mine.

Images rise up
and fall away,
moments in the current of time —

tender, harsh,
extraordinary,
mundane,

that which gives pleasure in recollection
and that which hurts, yet resists being forgotten.

May the threads of memory be woven into the fabric of my life
and bring healing.

Adaped from Marcia Falk, “The Days Between”

Kindling a Memorial Light

נֵר יְהוָה נִשְׁמַת אָדָם

Ner Adonai nishmat adam.

The light of God shines in our soul.
— Proverbs 20:27

(I/we) give thanks for the blessing of life,
for companionship,
and for memory.

Our tradition teaches us that we never lose those we love,
for love is stronger than death.

So (I/we) kindle this light now,
and as it burns,
so may the memory of (deceased)
continue to be an inspiration.

GRIEF, HEALING, HOPE

Temple is here for you.

When You Suffer a Loss: Please contact the receptionist at Temple's main number or a member of the clergy. You will be guided compassionately and sensitively through the Jewish mourning practice.

Daily Minyan: Our daily minyan service meets online at 8:15AM Sunday through Friday. It provides an opportunity to fulfill the mitzvah of saying Kaddish for loved ones. On Shabbat, we invite you to say Kaddish at our services on Friday night and Saturday mornings.

Contact templecommunications@tedallas.org for the daily minyan Zoom link.

Memorial Room: The Levine Memorial Room is a quiet refuge in which to pause and reflect about the people who came before us. Bronze plaques in honor of loved ones are available for purchase and installation, and you are welcome to visit the space whenever the Temple building is open.

Grief Support: Temple offers ongoing grief support in a variety of ways. Meeting with clergy, the daily minyan, Shabbat and Yizkor services and small support groups are all ways we offer comfort, healing and strength to those who are grieving in our community.

Contact: Meredith Pryzant, mpryzant@tedallas.org

Temple Emanu-El Cemetery and Mausoleum: The historic Temple Emanu-El Cemetery was established on its present tranquil site on Howell Street at Lemmon Avenue in 1956; it was the second Jewish cemetery in Dallas. Early settlers in Dallas formed the Hebrew Benevolent Society in 1872 to bury their dead. Members of this society went on to establish Temple Emanu-El in 1875.
