On November 5, 2023, Temple leaders sealed a time capsule and said a fond goodbye to our wonderful TE150 celebration. The hopes and dreams expressed in that slim box helped us lean into a bright future, especially during a heartbreaking time for the Jewish people. In the months that followed, we experienced Temple at its best — taking care of our members, responding to the crisis in Israel, being a refuge of comfort and community. All of this was possible because of you and your generosity of time, spirit, love and gifts to support our financial goals. Temple's next 150 years are off and running, and we couldn't be more proud.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

We are pleased to present this year's Impact Report. This past year was a most difficult one, as Israel was brutally attacked and antisemitism surged around the world, including in our own community. But even as we all struggled to deal with an array of emotions and concerns, we also collectively realized the critical importance of Temple Emanu-El as a center of dynamic and resilient Jewish life.

So we pivoted after October 7 to host a community-wide Israel solidarity event, as well as a community concert in May to raise funds for victims of the attack. We sent a leadership delegation to Israel in January on a solidarity mission and then had the delegation members share their experiences and reflections with the Temple community upon their return. (See page 37 for a QR code to the reflections.) We provided support to Temple members with family in Israel and to Temple's college students who were confronted with acts of antisemitism on their campuses. And at a time of growing partisan divide, we worked to be a place of respectful and informed discussion about Israel.

At the same time, we proceeded with the work at the core of our existence for the past 150-plus years. We completed the TE150 celebration with Futurescaping, a weekend of programming about the future of Temple and Reform Judaism, followed by our Rededication Shabbat, when we welcomed more than 900 of you for services and a community dinner. We marked the successful conclusion of the TE150 endowment campaign — which raised an incredible sum of more than $58 million to help secure Temple's financial security for generations to come. We opened the Barbara Zale Center for Living History, which contains both the state-of-the-art Pollock Family Media Wall and the Pamela & Steven Pluss Gallery. This transformative space brings our rich history and amazing art collection to life. On the social justice front, we commenced our partnership with United to Learn, featuring community gardens and related curriculum in two DISD elementary schools in underserved communities, and we planted 50 trees in Orbiter Park, in partnership with the Texas Trees Foundation. We also unveiled a new age-appropriate social justice curriculum in Youth Learning + Engagement, combining classroom learning with experiential tikkun olam opportunities. Finally, based upon the advice of our professional security experts, we developed a plan to better physically secure our campus and our members in an architecturally sensitive way, which will be installed in the coming year.

Of course, none of what we do would be possible without your generous support. The Annual Fund is essential to all we do and it ensures that we can make Temple available to all regardless of ability to pay. Even as so many of us provided financial assistance to those victimized by October 7 and to organizations fighting antisemitism, we set a new Annual Fund record this year. We had more than 125 new donors, and approximately 40% of our returning donors increased their gift. Inside this packet, you will find materials for the 2024-2025 Annual Fund, Together We Can. We hope that all who are able to do so will again give generously so that we can continue to be the vibrant center of Jewish life to which we aspire.

May we continue to grow from strength to strength.

'YOUR PEOPLE SHALL BE MY PEOPLE...'

Ruth 1:16

The path to conversion at Temple includes not only the new Jews we welcome into our community but also the dedicated mentors who share their own love of Judaism with them.

Jennifer Cassel, mentor

I tripped on mentoring soon-to-be and new Jews when I met Michael Kunen (pictured left) through mutual friends. We spent many meals discussing Judaism, my family traditions and customs, and Jewish practice. My parents, who were Jewish educators, instilled a love of Judaism that comes alive when people want to understand and learn about the religion.

The most rewarding part has been sharing my own Jewish journey with Jews just beginning theirs. I felt like a proud parent as I ate charoset made by a new Jew using my grandmother's recipe. It's a new definition of l'dor vador.

Hands down, the most rewarding mentoring moment was serving as Michael's conversion witness and being at the mikvah with him. Until then, I'd never been to a mikvah or attended a conversion. I've now attended three conversion ceremonies, and I cry each time.

Spencer Martin, conversion November 1, 2023

I had done some light internet research about synagogues that did conversions. There was a big and beautiful synagogue a few minutes down the road, and when I mentioned the name Temple Emanu-El to my colleagues, they knew of it, saying, "Gorgeous looking place indeed."

I chose Temple Emanu-El because I could see myself as a community member here. Temple is where I can take a deep breath and enjoy the scenery while attending Shabbat to help begin a restful weekend. It's a place that lets me catch time in a bottle.

Rabbi Michael Lewis was a mentor and helped me throughout my conversion process. He stayed late plenty of nights to ensure I could ask all the questions I needed to feel comfortable and knowledgeable, which I will always be grateful for. I am beginning a Sh'ma golf group, which I hope will be a way to connect with Temple members.

Jose Aguayo, conversion December 6, 2023

When I first started exploring the idea of converting, I was looking for Jewish books at Half Price Books. An employee who saw me suggested that while books are great, I'd get more out of attending an Intro to Judaism class at her synagogue, Temple Emanu-El. So, I think Temple Emanu-El chose me!

From the first moment I walked in for my Intro to Judaism class, everyone was so welcoming. The clergy does not feel far away from you. Everyone here is also loving and open-minded. I feel seen and heard no matter what labels I might be carrying.

I am a Friday night regular, so everyone knows who I am. Even if they don't know my name, they know my face. Being a regular has helped me connect with people I now see as mentors. I find it easy to ask them questions and guidance about being a young Jew and how to navigate some issues, especially after October 7.

May Sebel, mentor

I started mentoring in 2018 and I have worked with three people. I get to know them and learn their personal stories. I invite them to Shabbat services and every event I go to at Temple, and I include them at Passover, break-fast and dinner parties. It's a real bright spot to take someone under your wing, introduce them to your friends and talk up the mentoring and conversion process.

Mentoring is an opportunity to make more connections and share Temple's many programs, its history and its standing in the community.

I'm so proud of Aarieanna Ware (pictured right), who was just named Miss Texas USA. My daughter, Lauren and I are going to the Miss USA pageant to support her! I am also so impressed by Jackie Sasscer, my new conversion student who has been studying Judaism since she was a child. Their stories are so inspiring.

SHOP TALK

Judaic Treasures

Judaic Treasures is more than a place to shop for beautiful items for your Jewish life; it's an expression of Temple's values taking center stage. Here, you'll find Israeli art, ritual items, Jewish home décor, books, and so much more.

"Our mission is helping people observe their faith at home with ritual Judaic items. It's truly a mitzvah for me," says Kay Schachter, the store manager and buyer who grew up as the daughter of two retailers.

The shop is a longstanding project of Women of Reform Judaism, is 100 percent run by volunteers, and all proceeds benefit Temple. Kay, a past president of WRJ, has been running the shop for 27 years and is pleased to report that this year's sales have reached pre-Covid levels.

Judaic Treasures has intensified its efforts to support Israeli artists over the past year, Kay says. Because she and store buyer Lynn Swartz had existing relationships with vendors, they were able to move quickly after October 7 to bring in Israeli merchandise. Currently about 25% of the product in the store is from Israel. Check it out in the store's front window!

CURRENTLY ABOUT
25% OF THE INVENTORY
IN THE STORE
IS FROM ISRAEL

Judaic Treasures is open from 11AM to 5PM Monday–Friday, and from 9AM to 1PM Sundays when Youth Learning + Engagement is in session. Contact Kay to make an appointment at 469.230.5195.

"We wanted to support Israel, so we made a concerted effort to cultivate connections there," Kay says. "I know it helps them."

One unexpected turn was that the horrific events of October 7 motivated many people to be more public and proud about their Judaism. "I used to sell maybe two 14-karat gold Star of David necklaces a year. This past year it has been about 20," Kay says.

The shop's merchandise reflects changing trends in shopping. Young buyers are looking for more versatile pieces, and brands such as Michael Aram and Nambé are popular. Another change: Judaica used to be considered the family hanukkiyah or Grandma's brass candlesticks. But beginning in the mid '90s and popularized by artists such as Gary Rosenthal, Judaica evolved into fine craft and home décor worth showing off.

And Judaic Treasures is here to support all your needs, from holiday prep to mezuzahs to greeting cards. Even the occasional tefillin.

About that — Kay shares the story of how a longtime customer from Shearith Israel purchased tefillin but was not able to get to the shop in time to pick them up before she had to go to the airport. As it turns out, volunteer Kim Rosenberg lives near the airport and offered to meet them there with the package. Now that's customer service!

SCHOOL DAYS

Today's ECEC moms recall special memories from their own Temple preschool years.

Lindsay Sureck Chiu

One of my favorite memories was playing outside on the big playscape. While it has changed in its appearance, I love picking my son up from school and seeing him playing in the same outdoor space where I once did many years ago.

Lindsay, with Elliot

Elena, with Micah

Elena Dufner Paull

My favorite memories of ECEC were that it was a place where being Jewish was just normal, where I felt loved, special and totally comfortable.

One particular memory: There was one day that it rained really hard and after it stopped raining the playground was flooded with water. Instead of keeping us inside all day, we went outside and we learned how to fold paper boats. And then we had boat races! It's another example of how ECEC finds the creative in the every day and helps foster kids' curiosity. And I still remember racing boats with friends who are still my friends 30-something years later.

Maddie, with Mila and Beckham

Maddie Giese Wolf

I remember loving all of the class parties in Pollman Hall! It was so fun and surreal to sit with Mila during her class party for Passover, knowing that when I was a child I sat with my mom in the same room.

Erin Finegold White

I remember moving here from Houston and my mom said that I was very quiet. Suddenly, I became friends with everyone in my classroom, and some of those friends are still in my life today. I see them at ECEC drop-off when I bring my kids, continuing the ECEC family connection from when I was 4 years old until now.

Erin, with JoJo and Maddox

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND

Robin Nathanson

Robin Nathanson, president of Women of Reform Judaism, sees the results of social isolation and loneliness among women and has focused her term on creating meaningful connections.

“Our mission is to strengthen the spiritual fabric of Temple Emanu-El and create a fulfilling center for the women of Temple,” she says. “We do this through engaging programming, supporting Temple, local and national social action, and supporting youth as the future of Reform Judaism.”

From art glass projects to the qigong breathing and movement practice to the Blankets & Bourbon social action event, WRJ opens the doors to new relationships. See for yourself on First Fridays, the new program where WRJ members sit together at services on the first Shabbat of each month.

“No woman should ever sit alone,” she says.

THE TORAH TEAM

Behind the beautiful curtains of Olan Sanctuary, Stern Chapel and Lefkowitz Chapel are the 13 Temple Torahs, each with its own unique journey.

Enter the Torah Team, a new group that has formed in the past year to help care for Temple's scrolls. Grant Coombs, Evan Gammieri, Shelly Gammieri, Barry Greenberg, Peggy Kaufman and Debby Stein are joining Jan Timmons, who has been involved with taking care of the Torahs since 2003!

"It started with Rabbi Robbins asking me to follow up with some sofrs (Torah scribes) about working on some of our scrolls, and I continue doing that as needed," Jan says. "This year will be the first year that I will actually have help with that! Now I find myself most enjoying the role of teacher, sharing what I have learned with others in the hope that they will find it as inspiring as I do."

At Shavuot, the Torah team helped with preparing the Torahs for the Standing at Sinai event, with 10 congregants each reading one verse from 10 different Torahs. In the spring, a group from the Team helped sew the parchment of the Czech Torah onto new poles.

Debby Stein, a gifted textile artist, applied her skills for that project. "It was so meaningful for me to literally repair the scroll that once was part of a congregation in Europe, stolen by the Nazis and then recovered at the end of WWII and eventually brought to Temple. Helping to prolong the life and usefulness of this Torah, as many people have over its 200-plus-years life, was deeply moving," she says.

Evan Gammieri, a YL+E student who was also asked to be on the team, says he appreciates being so close to the Torahs, as well as carrying the Torahs. For Jan, the Torahs are a symbol of the Jewish people and their survival and is a connection to our Jewish past.

"The more I work with and learn about our scrolls the more connected I feel, to our community and to the long history of Jews everywhere. Wherever you go, the Torah scroll is a constant," she says.

ALL HER LIFE

Miriam Vernon

Miriam Vernon is truly a lifelong Temple member and supporter. At 99 years young, she and Temple have grown up together, and what a journey they've had!

"I've never known any other congregation," says Miriam, who, as a girl, lived on South Boulevard, across the street from Temple. "All Jews knew the other Jews in Dallas. If you went out of town, people would ask, 'Do you know so and so?' and usually we did."

Miriam's parents, Ludwig and Mae Guckenheimer, were active members of Temple and the Dallas Jewish community. She attended preschool at Temple, and was confirmed in 1941 (pictured second row, first girl on the left). In 1955, she married Max Vernon of blessed memory. Even though Max had grown up in a Conservative synagogue, Miriam insisted that they continue to be members of Temple Emanu-El. "I said, 'I can't do that,' when we talked about joining another congregation. Max was new to Dallas, so we remained members of Temple."

She was an active member of Sisterhood (now Women of Reform Judaism) and a founding member of the Temple Emanu-El Choir. "I was in the choir for over 50 years, and traveled on several trips with the choir under Simon Sargon."

Learning and Torah have always been central to her life. She became a bat mitzvah in 1994, and traveled to Israel with the congregation. She also gifted Temple with the beautiful Illustrated Torah, honoring Max, in 2019.

As Miriam looks forward to a milestone birthday in 2025, she reflects on the many blessings in her life. "I'm not as young as I used to be, but I'm lucky I'm in good health, have a great place to live and have a wonderful family."

BEYOND OUR WALLS

Ally Karpel

Ally Karpel, who grew up at Temple Emanu-El, is now a rabbinical student at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion. She credits her connection to Temple for planting the seeds for a professional Jewish career.

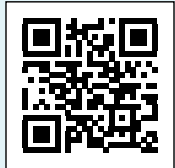

"I had this feeling that the clergy really cared about what I thought and what I felt. Through my relationship with the clergy, I could see myself mentoring young Jews in that same way," she says.

She also appreciates the opportunities that Temple provided to interact with adult members while she was a teenager.

"My senior year of high school, I was co-president of DAFTY (Temple's former youth group) and Temple was kicking off Our Temple | Our Future capital campaign. The day they broke ground all of the clergy were wearing hard hats, and they gave me a hard hat to wear. L'dor vador!"

Temple is also fortunate to benefit from the deep reserves of scholarship at HUC. This past spring, Rabbi Josh Garroway, Ph.D. and interim dean of the Los Angeles campus, was the speaker for the Rabbi Levi A. Olan lecture. Scan the QR code to watch his engaging, informative sermon from May 3, 2024.

IN THEIR FOOTSTEPS

Taryn Fitzgerald

On May 4, 2024 Taryn Fitzgerald celebrated her bat mitzvah in Olan Sanctuary, joining the many family members who held special life cycle events in the space.

Taryn's mom, Regan, shares the importance of Olan Sanctuary to her and the entire family. "When I think of Temple Emanu-El, I think of Olan Sanctuary. From weddings to baby namings to confirmations, everything happened in Olan. Some of my fondest Jewish memories are of being in Olan Sanctuary with my grandmother, Sylvia Presser of blessed memory. Being in there allows me to feel close to her. Thanks to my parents and grandparents who made Temple such an important part of my life, I get to share the same space and community with my children."

While reflecting on her bat mitzvah, Taryn shared: "Even though I haven't been here for all of the family events, being on the bimah in Olan Sanctuary I could feel the l'dor vador."

Lr: Taryn's baby naming, 2011; bat mitzvah of Sandler Fitzgerald, Taryn's sister, 2021; bat mitzvah of Shauna Roth, Taryn's aunt, with grandmother Sylvia Presser, 1995

FULL HOUSE

Andrew Zusman

The origin of Temple Brotherhood as a poker game in the basement of the South Boulevard location is not lost on Andrew Zusman. In 1922, the story goes, Rabbi David Lefkowitz challenged the men to add some social good to their socializing.

One hundred and two years later, the current Brotherhood president takes the combination of fun and purpose to heart. "I believe really strongly in building a connection point for every man who's a Brotherhood member. That happens because of social programming. Brotherhood started as a poker game. We have to capture that again."

We are in a unique moment in society for men, he says. "Brotherhood pushes back on the narrative that spaces for men have to be toxic. We are a welcoming and open space. We are diverse and multigenerational, and we've found common ground. Men right now more than ever before need positive spaces to congregate."

The Indiana native moved to Dallas 10 years ago from Israel, where he had lived for about 10 years. Knowing nothing about Temple, he called to inquire if he could find a spot at a Passover seder. "They said, 'We've got a place for you,' and that was [Temple president] Bob Krakow's house. I had only been in Dallas three months, and I had to rent a car to get to Bob's house."

The relationship with Temple grew. His wife, Natasha, is from Ukraine, and they have two children, Yaya and Ari. "We have a very special connection with Cantor Vicky Glikin. She is the very first non-relative to hold both of my children. For every major milestone in my children's Jewish life, she has been there."

Earlier this year, Andrew set a goal to chant from the Torah and began learning cantillation from Cantor Glikin. He read Torah in Lefkowitz Chapel on June 1. "It is so deeply meaningful to me," he says. "When you engage with texts like that, it becomes a part of you. I bought a yad that our family will now use whenever we read. It's a special tradition to start."

Another highlight of his Torah reading was the presence of Brotherhood members to support him. Whether cheering on a friend, scooping ice cream for tzedakah, playing pinball at an arcade night, schmoozing with a bagel entrepreneur or building projects for the Dallas Furniture Bank, Andrew believes in providing multiple connections for men to engage with Temple.

"It isn't loneliness I'm trying to combat, although I think that's a piece of it, but the building of positive spaces for men to bond together."

From top: Drop-off at Greene Family Camp with Natasha, Ari, Andrew and Yaya Zusman; reading Torah; with Brotherhood members Adam Zablotzky and Dr. Xico R. Baruch Garcia

THE SUPPORT I NEEDED

Bernie Apter

After my wife died, I joined the Temple grief support group with my daughter, Beth. When I first started, it was very hard. I was the only man for a while. Going with my daughter was helpful. Learning more about the process of grieving allowed me to open up and feel the feelings.

Having the chance to connect with others who have similar experiences allowed me to realize there is life after loss and you don't have to be alone. I was with the group for one year, and it helped me see what the future could be. Meredith Pryzant (Director of Member Support) started every session with a poem. At first I couldn't even read the poem without breaking down and over time it got easier.

ART WITH HEART

Nancy Cohen Israel and Scott Peck

They are a dream team in a volunteer job that didn't even exist a year ago at Temple! Nancy Cohen Israel and Scott Peck are both museum professionals who have brought their skill sets and their passion to the new Pamela & Steven Pluss Gallery.

Nancy, the manager of docent programs at the Meadows Museum, chairs the Gallery Committee and has been the driving force behind Rediscoveries and Israel Illuminated. She drew from her vast knowledge of Temple's art collection to curate the exhibitions and tie them together to important Temple programming. Scott is the executive director of three museums housed in the complex just across the street from NorthPark Center: the National Center for Jewish Art, the Museum of Holocaust Art and the Museum of Biblical Art. He has done both installations at Temple, has curated more than 200 museum exhibitions, and has worked with over 50 museums of all types in his career.

How has your expertise been helpful in launching the first two exhibitions in the Pluss Gallery?

Nancy: As a museum educator, I look for works that might spark a conversation. I look for work that will be compatible and that, combined, can tell a story of whatever our focus is for any exhibition. Installing it in a cohesive manner is also an important aspect of this work.

How have Temple's works of art added to the appeal of the gallery?

Nancy: Temple is a treasure trove of incredible art! To be able to bring work that may be tucked in a conference room or is otherwise rarely seen into the gallery and give it prominence of place is immensely gratifying.

You two work so well together! What do each of you appreciate about working together?

Scott: Nancy is like a sister to me, offering advice and guidance personally and professionally. Her strengths complement and mesh with mine. Working on an art exhibition at the Temple is similar to developing a book together, collaborating and coordinating our skills, and creating special art experiences for Temple members and visitors to learn and appreciate the Torah.

Nancy: In addition to the privilege of working with such a good friend, Scott's spectacular depth of knowledge of Jewish artists is invaluable. He is also a fantastic installer. I am very grateful that we can draw on his expertise to curate, hang and light these exhibitions so perfectly.

What are some of your dreams for the future of the Pluss Gallery?

Scott: The future is limitless as we look ahead to the potential of the Pluss Gallery and effectiveness of the visual arts at Temple. Art can be utilized to teach aspects of Judaism and the Jewish life in profound ways. For example, exhibitions involving Israel and Israeli artists deepen commitment to Temple, inspire our faith, fight antisemitism and strengthen our connection with Torah.

Nancy: We hope that it will be a place where congregants can experience and appreciate Temple's art collection. It would be lovely if it could also be used a teaching tool for children from preschool through high school. What also excites me is the possibility of bringing in the work of nationally and internationally recognized artists. It is fantastic that we can finally provide a beautiful, professional and secure space to showcase art. If we can have an artist-in-residence program featuring prominent artists who will engage with a wide swath of the congregation, that would be a dream come true.

PLAYGROUND TO BIMAH

Jake Bassman and Ted Levy

Jake and Ted met at the Early Childhood Education Center and formed their friendship during kindergarten. They have stayed close friends since then, even celebrating their bar mitzvah ceremonies on the same day, Dec. 2, 2023!

Having our bar mitzvahs the same day was really cool. It was great to have the afternoon service because attending Ted's morning service was kind of like a rehearsal. Watching Ted's successful bar mitzvah made me feel more confident to do mine later in the day.

"Jarrod and I have always described Jake and Ted as 'old souls' because they are both thoughtful and easygoing. They have similar interests such as basketball, biking, and, of course, video games. Even though they attend different schools, they would

Our friendship is special because we haven't gone to school together since ECEC but are still best friends. I really enjoyed going to the Iowa football game with Jake. The game was awesome. It felt amazing to have our bar mitzvahs on the same day. We will always have the same Torah portion and I liked seeing Jake do such a great job.

"Alan and I love to see that Ted and Jake have a special bond and friendship that began when they were little at Temple. They are both kind, funny, curious and easy to be with!"

– Allison Levy

A MESSAGE FROM THE TE150 CHAIRS

Suzi Greenman and Scott McCartney

From the beginning five years ago this month, at our first sesquicentennial planning meeting, we understood that the success of TE150 should be measured not only by congregational participation but also by how our efforts would both reinforce Temple's foundational values and position Temple Emanu-El to flourish in the future. In the six months since TE150 officially ended, we have had time to reflect on the success of these efforts and are pleased to report that we — all 800-plus of us who contributed our time and talent to TE150 month — can take pride and joy in a job well done.

- With generous pledges from a broad swath of congregants, we will have more than doubled the size of our endowment, helped keep Temple accessible and affordable for future generations, and ensured that we can continue to provide a meaningful religious education to our youth.
- Creative brainstorming inspired us to plan joyous congregation-wide events, ground-breaking art experiences, meaningful study, and innovative worship — all of which serve as blueprints for future occasions.
- By initiating two new social justice projects, we have strengthened our commitment to the repair of the world. Establishing the Zilbermann Tzedakah Fund ensures that increased funding will be available to support those and other social justice efforts in the community.
- By working with outside consultants, we have developed a new, innovative social justice curriculum that will integrate tikkun olam across all ages in our youth — creating opportunities for acts of loving kindness by grade and age.
- The opening of the Barbara Zale Center for Living History, the Pamela & Steven Pluss Gallery and the Pollock Family Media Wall, coupled with four years of research and hard work by the Documenting Our History and Rededicating to Our Future Committees, has made it possible to share Temple's rich history, art and artifacts with a broader audience.
- In partnership with the Jewish Agency for Israel and Greene Family Camp, we welcomed our sh'lichah, Aya Margalit, and her family to Temple at a time when understanding Israel, our "home of the heart," has become increasingly important.

By multiple measures, TE150 has been a great success. At a time in history when we were being challenged by the devastating effects of a worldwide pandemic and pummeled with deep political differences in our nation, TE150 brought us together in celebration and showed us how fortunate we are to be members of this sacred and vibrant community.

We cannot close without expressing anew our deep gratitude to each and every one of you who participated and contributed to the success of Temple's 150th anniversary celebration. And we offer heartfelt thanks to our rabbis, cantors and staff who inspired us, guided us, and taught us every step of the way.

TEMPLE EMANU-EL FOUNDATION

Mark Zilbermann, President

The Temple Emanu-El Foundation was created in 2000 with assets of $3.85 million. For nearly a quarter of a century, the fund has worked toward its mission to support Temple and its cemetery for generations to come. This past year saw exceptional progress toward that goal with the successful completion of the TE150 Ensuring Our Future Endowment Campaign.

The Foundation's directors and advisors are focused on managing its endowment for long-term growth while supporting quarterly distributions to Temple and its cemetery. Assets under management were $48.9 million at fiscal year-end June 30, 2024. In the 24 years since its creation, Temple's endowment has grown more than tenfold, while distributing over $19.71 million to Temple and the cemetery.

During the past fiscal year, the Foundation distributed $1.45 million to Temple and its cemetery, which supported 7.77% of Temple's operating budget. This brings us closer to our goal of making Temple access more affordable and increasing the distribution level to 15% of the operating budget.

The financial impact of TE150 continues to grow. During the past fiscal year, the Foundation received $6.2 million in cash gifts. Since its inception, the Foundation has averaged a remarkable nearly 6% return, higher than its benchmark of nearly 5.5% for the same mix of equities and fixed income.

None of these achievements would be possible without Temple's visionary leaders of the 21st century. I owe particular thanks to Suzi Greenman, who, as president, stewarded the creation of the Foundation. She and Scott McCartney, another past president and current vice president of the Foundation, led TE150 over four intense years. I am also privileged to work closely with Temple President Bob Krakow, Executive Director Meredith J. Fried and Senior Director of Finance Deven Joshi, who thoughtfully steward Temple's annual budget.

Lastly, I invite the chairs of the Ensuring Our Future Endowment Fund to take a bow. Julie and David Fields and Betsy and Mark Kleinman worked tirelessly in partnership with Sandy Diamond, Senior Director of Congregational Advancement, to grow Temple's endowment to its newly robust levels.

The future is bright for the Temple Emanu-El Foundation. I'm proud that with each passing year, we grow in our ability to provide a strong ethical and spiritual Jewish home for the generations that will follow us

ENDOWMENT FUNDS

What are endowment funds and why are they important at Temple Emanu-El?

Endowment funds create a permanent source of financial support for the mission of Temple Emanu-El. Establishing an endowed fund, or contributing to an existing fund, presents a unique opportunity to address the donor's interests and Temple's highest priorities. These funds can be created through current gifts of cash or securities as well as through estates and other deferred gift instruments. Endowed funds provide recognition opportunities by naming the fund in honor of family and friends or others who have been meaningful in the donor's life.

OUR TEMPLE | OUR FUTURE

We are forever grateful to Our Temple | Our Future donors for helping make Temple so full of possibilities.

ZILBERMANN TZEDAKAH FUND

When we first thought about starting the Zilbermann Tzedakah Fund, we were looking for help with our desire to give back to the Dallas community, which has been so good to us. We knew that too many people were struggling with generational poverty and wanted to do what we could, in some small way, to help alleviate it. We could not have asked for a better partner than Temple Emanu-El, which we knew would always share our values and be great stewards of the funds.

We couldn't be happier with the committee created to make the grants. First, under the leadership of Sheryl Bogen and now Barbara Hyman and Mike Rosen, we've gone through five grant cycles. The committee members have all been engaged, and we've met wonderful staff at agencies working to improve Dallas. As a committee, we are improving at discovering how to do the most good with our resources. Thank you to all involved for your hard work and dedication in helping make our dream become a reality.

MORE THAN WORDS

Gina Weber

The path to meaning and purpose in Gina Weber's Temple life lies in social justice and advocacy. She's the leader of the Social Justice Sh'ma Group and a Temple representative in Dallas Area Interfaith. She recently rejoined Temple. Welcome back, Gina!

"Last year, I felt a void and a calling to rejoin Temple. Temple has always had a great impact on our lives. I enjoyed working at Judaic Treasures and teaching a religious school and adults class. Temple has also offered me a connection to social justice and change.

"Advocacy is the most important part of my volunteer work at Temple and in the DFW community. I want to be an upstander, not a bystander. Temple is important for our spiritual education and growth; however, if we do not implement Jewish teachings proactively and positively, they will not have any meaning. They will be just words on a piece of paper! Honoring God means doing good in the world outside the walls of your house of worship. Therefore, Temple plays an important role in advocacy and social change."

BEA GOLDMAN COVENANT SOCIETY

The Bea Goldman Covenant Society was founded in 2001 to recognize those who provide for the future of Temple Emanu-El in their estate plans. The society has been named to honor the memory of Bea Goldman, who was devoted to Temple in her lifetime and directed that virtually all of her estate benefit Temple.

We acknowledge with gratitude the members of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, listed below, who have notified Temple of their planned gifts or have generously designated Temple as a beneficiary of their wills.

If you have left a gift to Temple in your will or other estate plans, but are not listed as a member of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, we encourage you to notify Temple's Development Office so that we may recognize your generosity by including your name.
